Excited to finish school and get to dance classes. "What classes have I got tonight Mum?"

She gets to the studio early and attempts to put her hair in a bun, feeling proud that she has almost mastered the technique. She greets her dance friends who she has such a special friendship with. You can tell by the way she looks up to her teachers that these classes are so much more than just about learning to dance. Her teacher makes her feel important, encourages her to explore beyond her own self doubt and gives her the confidence to try new things.

As she has forgotten about all her worries she loses herself in the music and rhythm of dance. The studio is such a special place where she knows she can be herself.

You see, helping your child fall in love with dance is only part of what we do at Jamie’s Academy of Dance.

It’s all about creating childhood memories of dance classes you will both cherish for a lifetime.

Would you like to come along and trial a class for yourself?
