

Chaplain's Spot

'Strengths activity'

Sometimes we might ask our children, 'if you could be an animal, which one would you choose, and why?' It's interesting to discover which one they choose. The reason may or may not be related to the perceived strength of that animal.

The following grid shows a few animals with their associated strength. Perhaps you might like to use this to talk about their strengths, and even yours as well. As we consider Positive Education this year, this could be a helpful activity in promoting acknowledgement and development of our strengths, and in building our sense of value as people, adults and children.

One-liner of the week:

If you look at what you have in life, you'll always have more. If you look at what you don't have in life, you'll never have enough. —Oprah Winfrey
