The best PARENTING quotes

[The Best Things ever said about Parenting by B & N Carmichael]

Good parents give their child roots and wings. Roots to know where home is, and wings to fly away and exercise what's been taught them.

The goal of parental discipline should be the achievement of the child's self-discipline, not parental control of the child's behaviour.

I want to be remembered as someone who was fun to live with.

When there are children in our life, it's always dancing season – even if we must occasionally dance with a limp.

One day your children should be able to look back and say, 'My family was the one place where I felt I could be myself – and be loved for it.

Babies are such a nice way to start people.

Give your troubles to God; He will be up all night anyway.

Sometimes we're so concerned about giving our children what we never had growing up, we neglect to give them what we did have growing up.

Quote of the week: Every child needs at least one person who's crazy about them.
