“Sounds of Silence” and other sounds

One of my favourite songs at high School was ‘Sounds of Silence’. Last weekend a group of men from our church walked along the Rail Trail near Seville. The bell bird sounds were beautiful. They helped us enjoy the beauty of the scenery, and relax after the week.

Some of my favourite sounds? They would have to include bell birds, kookaburras, magpies [the birds, not the football players], children's laughter, the purr of a lion, pounding of the waves, my grandson saying 'I love you Grandpa Ayan' [he couldn't say his L's], so many songs, and the sound of silence.

May you share some of your favourite sounds with those in your family, especially ensuring that the children hear wonderful, positive sounds rather the destructive sounds that are too plentiful in our world. Let's make a difference by producing sounds that lift people's spirits!
